

Urban Surprises: A Guide to Public Art in Los Angeles

URBAN SUPRISES allows readers to take their own tours of “the outdoor museum that is the City of Los Angeles,” while providing an introduction to the processes that engage both the artists and the funding agencies in addressing the use of public space for visual art.

You'll find:

- Maps and color photos of completed public art projects that have been funded by the Cultural Affairs Department Public Art Programs, CRA's Public Art Programs and MTA's Metro Art Department;
- Detailed descriptions of media, artists and locations of each piece;
- An introduction to the public art process and a history of public art in the City of Los Angeles.

URBAN SURPRISES is available through Balcony Press for $14.95
